This page of guitar sheet music for "The Highway" by The Highwaymen contains six systems of notation for Guitar I. Each system includes a picking staff and a fretting staff. The picking staff shows the sequence of strings to be picked, often with accents or slurs. The fretting staff shows the fret numbers for each string, with diamond symbols indicating specific fretting techniques or bends. The music is written in 2/4 time, with various key signatures and tempo markings. The systems are numbered 7, 14, 21, 28, 35, and 42. The notation is complex, with many accidentals and dynamic markings, suggesting a technically demanding piece.

This image displays a detailed guitar score for a 12-string guitar, organized into 12 measures. Each measure consists of two staves: a 'Picking' staff and a 'Fretting' staff. The 'Picking' staves show various picking patterns, including single notes, chords, and slurs. The 'Fretting' staves show fret numbers (0, 7, 12) and chord diagrams. The score is written in a standard musical notation style, with a key signature of one sharp (F#) and a 4/4 time signature.

Sheet music for six guitar parts (Gtr. I to Gtr. VI), each with Picking and Fretting staves. The notation includes various musical symbols such as notes, rests, and fret numbers (e.g., 12, 7, 0).

The first four guitar parts (Gtr. I to Gtr. IV) show complex melodic and harmonic lines with frequent fret changes and picking patterns. The fifth and sixth guitar parts (Gtr. V and Gtr. VI) are primarily silent, with only a few initial fretting notes indicated in the first measure.
